OVERVIEW

Seattle Pacific University (SPU) is proud to sponsor a large on-campus student employment program. An underlying philosophy of financial aid is the idea that students are responsible to work and contribute to their cost of attendance. On-campus jobs allow students to earn the funding needed for their educational expenses while learning valuable skills and exploring career interests. Working on campus helps students connect to the campus community, contributes to their academic success, and improves their chances of completing their degree at SPU.

Student labor is also critical for the numerous departments across the SPU campus and its student employees are vital to the success of the University.

Supervisors play an important role in the on-campus student employment program. As a supervisor, you are in a position to ensure that students benefit from their work experience. A supervisor serves as a mentor, role model, friend and connection to the SPU campus. As a supervisor, you are also in a position to ensure that SPU receives real value for the resources that are invested in student employees in terms of training, time, and funding.

TYPES OF ON-CAMPUS STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

There are two student employment programs on campus: Federal Work Study and Institutional Work Study.

The Federal Work Study Program is designed to promote the part-time employment of students. Eligibility is based on demonstrated financial need as determined by the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid form). The Office of Student Employment, located in Student Financial Services (lower Demaray Hall), monitors student's earnings under the Federal Work Study Program. Federal Work Study allows the student to earn money for the current year's cost of attendance. Federal Work Study earnings are deducted from the student's total earnings for the year when completing the FAFSA for the upcoming year which may increase their financial aid eligibility. Under the Federal Work Study Program, student wages are partially subsidized by the Federal Government, however this subsidy is not passed on to individual departments. Supervisors should not take work study eligibility into consideration when making hiring decisions.

The Institutional Work Study Program is available to those students who do not demonstrate financial need based on the FAFSA or to those students who are hired later in the academic year when Federal funds are depleted. Student earnings for the Institutional Work Study Program are paid directly from University funding.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

CREATING AND ADVERTISING A STUDENT POSITION

Each supervisor must request a login to the SPU Handshake website to post and maintain their listings. SPU Handshake serves as the central place for all job postings, and it is a requirement to post on SPU Handshake when supervisors have a new position for hire. In addition, departments may choose to advertise the open position on bulletin boards across campus or in campus publications (note: some bulletin boards require ASSP approval for postings).

If a department has a student position that has already been created and is on file in SPU Handshake, but it needs to be advertised, supervisors may login to the website and re-post the corresponding position. New listings will be verified, approved, and posted by the Office of Student Employment.

Job descriptions will remain posted until the time indicated on the posting passes or the department closes the position by logging into the website. It is REQUIRED that each individual position has a specific job description on file with the Office of Student Employment. It is important for the department to update the listing on SPU Handshake as soon as the position has been filled in order to keep the website postings current and helpful to students.

Students seeking work must take the initiative to check the website and apply for the positions that interest them. Supervisors may also request students to apply by phone, email or fax. Departments may set their own hiring practices, as long as they meet fair labor standards. Departments may not discriminate among students who have Federal Work Study eligibility or Institutional Work Study eligibility. Students who apply for a position should not be questioned regarding their work study eligibility.

PROCESSES REQUIRED / PAPERWORK NEEDED FOR STUDENT HIRING

ELECTRONIC PERSONNEL ACTION FORM (EPAF)

Once a student has been hired by a department on campus, the supervisor will complete an Electronic Personnel Action Form (ePAF) in the Banner Information System, under the employee menu. This online form includes information about the student and the department. The ePAF must be submitted to the Office of Student Employment in order for the student to be paid. Instructions are available on our website.

The ePAF is used whether or not a student is eligible for the Federal Work Study Program. A student will be paid from the Federal Work Study funding if the student is eligible, the department is eligible, and there is funding remaining. All departments across campus are eligible for Federal Work Study funding except: ASSP, Campus Ministries, School of Theology, Center for Biblical & Theological Education, Sodexo Campus Dining, and the Bookstore. After the ePAF has been approved by the Office of Student Employment, the ePAF will then be applied by Student Payroll for payment processing.

A new ePAF must be completed each summer and each academic year even if the student is continuing in the same position. If a new one is not done before the current one expires, the continuing student will lose permissions to access secure systems.

I-9 FORM (EMPLOYMENT ELIGIBILITY VERIFICATION)

Students must complete an I-9 Form in Student Financial Services on or before the first day they start work for pay. If a student does not submit the I-9 Form within three days, they must stop working until they can complete the I-9. A student employee must present documentation showing his/her eligibility to work in the United States. In order to limit liability for the University, Student Financial Services staff will complete all student I-9 Forms. I-9 Forms will be carried forward to the next year as long as work authorization documents have not expired and the student has not had a break in employment. Students that have breaks in employment may need to complete a new I-9 Form. Before working, students are encouraged to stop by or call SFS to make sure their I-9 requirement is fulfilled for the current year. The I-9 Form is available in Student Financial Services or on our website.

W-4 FORM

Students must complete a W-4 Form, available in Student Financial Services, Student Payroll, or at our website. Students also have the option of completing their W-4 online through their Banweb account under the Employee Menu. This form must be completed once at the time the student employee is initially hired for an on campus job. International students should talk with the Student Payroll Office (3rd Floor, Weter) about tax consequences that may affect them. Student employees will not be paid until all documents (Electronic Personnel Action Form (ePAF), I-9 and W-4) are received by Student Financial Services.

In addition to the student employment paperwork, departments must have a current job description stored on Handshake. If a job description is not on file, the department will be contacted to submit one before the student will be paid. Job Descriptions should be updated when the hiring supervisor, job duties or pay rate changes.

DIRECT DEPOSIT

All employees of SPU, including student employees, are required to sign up for Direct Deposit. This can be completed in the Banner Information System. If a student employee does not have it set up by the first payroll period, payroll will create a paper check but hold onto the check until the direct deposit has been set up.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

In order to work on campus as a student employee, the student must be enrolled in at least 6 undergraduate credits or 3 graduate credits per quarter during the academic year. Employees who do not meet these enrollment requirements should discuss the possibility of being designated temporary staff persons with Human Resources. A Personnel Action Form, I-9, and W-4 must be completed through the Human Resources Office.

If a student is in their last quarter of attendance and is enrolled less than half-time, they may be eligible to continue as a student employee. Students will need a statement from Student Academic Services Counselor confirming that these are the last credits needed to obtain a degree in order to pursue this option. Email ose@spu.edu for more information.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT ELIGIBILITY

Students are eligible to work on campus during the summer if they are enrolled in at least 1 credit or if they intend to enroll in at least 6 undergraduate credits or 3 graduate credits the following fall quarter. Students may work up to 40 hours per week during summer. If a student graduated spring quarter, they are not eligible to continue into the summer as a student employee. They must be set up as a temporary staff person through Human Resources. If a student will graduate during summer quarter, they may work as a student employee until the last day of their summer coursework. An Electronic Personnel Action Form (ePAF) is required for students working during the summer even if they are continuing in a job they held during the prior academic year. This electronic form is available in the Banner Information System.

If a department wants to hire a student to work at least 30 hours per week during the summer and the student does not also work during the academic year, the department must obtain advance approval from the Office of Student Employment (in order to comply with the Affordable Care Act).

EMPLOYMENT OF RELATED PERSONS

Supervisors of Student Employees should be aware of the University's policy regarding employment of related persons. SPU generally permits employment of close relatives on a concurrent basis. Exceptions to this do exist. Supervisors should not be directly supervising or approving timesheets for close relatives. For purposes of this policy, a close relative is a relationship established by blood, marriage, or otherwise. See the SPU Staff Handbook for further clarification.

MAXIMUM HOURS PER WEEK

It's important to honor that student employees are students first and employees second. Therefore, they are limited to working a maximum of 20 hours per week during the academic year. Students who are employed by SPU during the academic year may work up to 40 hours per week during the summer, Christmas break, or Spring Break (students can only work 20 hours per week during the summer if they are enrolled at least half-time). This is an aggregate limit – if a student has multiple positions on-campus the supervisors will need to coordinate so that the student's total on-campus employment does not exceed these maximums. If a department wants to hire a student to work at least 30 hours per week (e.g., during the summer) and the student does not also work during the academic year, the department must obtain advance approval from the Office of Student Employment (in order to comply with the Affordable Care Act).

Under extenuating circumstances, students (with supervisor support) may petition to be allowed to work over 20 hours per week (but not more than 30 hours per week to comply with the Affordable Care Act) by completing the Overtime Petition Form located on SPU's Student Employment site. Upon approval, the student may be granted to work more than 20 hours per week for a short period of time.

During the summer, Christmas break, or Spring break, students may also petition to be allowed to work over 40 hours per week for a limited duration by completing the Overtime Petition Form.

Any time an Overtime Petition Form is granted, it is possible that future work hours for the student may need to be reduced, or future employment opportunities may need to be limited, in order to comply with the Affordable Care Act.

If it is determined that a student employee has been working on average at least 30 hours per week (when considering their hours over the breaks and the academic year), SPU generally will be required to offer health care coverage to the student or face potential tax penalties. According to University policy, the department(s) employing the student employee will have their departmental budgets charged for costs of providing access to health care coverage. Tax penalties assessed to SPU due to a department not following the above policies may also be charged to such department(s).

CAMPUS WAGE GUIDELINES

Student wages are set based upon the hiring department's discretion. Supervisors should take into account their available student labor budget and the type of work involved. Wages should be set based on the type of work and the work experience the student brings to the job, not on class status. Students normally will be started at the lower end of the wage range; pay increases may be given once per year or more often based on the department's policies and student performance.

- Level I: Entry level, basic skills, zero or little previous experience. Very little independent decision making.
- Level II: Basic skills with some previous experience. Some independent decision making, less supervision, more accountable for application of knowledge.
- Level III: Moderately developed skills or significant experience. Great attention to detail, independent decision making, coordination of programs, or supervision of other students.
- Graduate Student Assistants: Independent decision making, less supervision.
- Pay Raises. $.25 or $.50 increments, usually once per year of service.

MINIMUM WAGE CHANGES

The Washington State Minimum Wage and/or the City of Seattle Minimum Wage may be increased each year by the rate of inflation and shall be calculated using the consumer price index. The new minimum wage rate will take effect in January. Student Payroll will automatically increase student employees with a pay rate below the new minimum wage. Student Payroll will notify the campus when the minimum wage is increased and inform supervisors of the new rate.

FERPA TRAINING

Student employees must complete FERPA training before having access to secure SPU systems such as Banner and Matthew. In order to request training, students should email ferpa@spu.edu. Once the FERPA training is complete, they can request the additional resources.

Students may be required to re-take FERPA training if it has been more than one year since they last completed it. Returning students can check in the Banner Information System to see a list of what accounts are active. Banner will provide a prompt to complete the FERPA training if a resource is requested and new training is required.

TITLE IX

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 ("Title IX"), 20 U.S.C. §§ 1681 et seq., is a federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs or activities operated by recipients of federal financial assistance.

Programs and activities include, but are not limited to, recruitment, admissions, financial aid, athletics, course offerings, and employment. Sexual harassment, which includes acts of sexual violence, is a form of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX. It is the policy of Seattle Pacific University not to discriminate on the basis of sex in its programs or activities, as required by applicable law.

If you have any questions about Title IX or need to report any complaints of discrimination, please contact the Title IX Coordinator:

STUDENT EMPLOYEE ACCOMMODATIONS

If a student employee requests an accommodation, please direct them to the Human Resources Office:

Phone: 206-281-2809

Fax: 206-281-2846

Office: 330 West Nickerson Street

STUDENT EMPLOYEE DRESS CODE AND PERFORMANCE EXPECTATIONS

Departments may set their own dress code policies for student employees based on the type of work performed and the expectations of the position. Departments should also formulate their own policies regarding performance expectations and standards for student employees. These policies should be in writing and should be made available to every student employee when they are hired. All supervisors in the department should apply the policy equally to all student employees in the department.

The Federal Work Study Program strongly encourages the use of performance evaluations to help students prepare to enter the job market after graduation. SPU encourages performance evaluations for ALL student employees and has a Performance Evaluation Form available for use. Pay increases may or may not be connected to performance evaluations at the department's discretion.

BENEFITS

Student employees do not accrue unemployment benefits, vacation pay or holiday pay, as of 2020. 2021 may change, therefore please look out for updates and instructions.

Students should not work over 40 hours per week, thus they should not earn overtime pay.

STUDENT LABOR BUDGET ALLOCATIONS

Student labor budget allocations are determined and monitored by the Finance Office. Department budgets will be assigned 2 budget lines- an amount in the Federal Work Study Program and an amount in the Institutional Work Study Program. Departments ought not to focus on the 2 separate budget lines, but rather should monitor the total amount of the student labor budget allocation (Federal Work Study plus Institutional Work Study). Departments are not affected if a student is or is not eligible for the federal work study program. Throughout the year, funds may be shifted between the two budget lines based on what program student employees are eligible for. The Student Employment Coordinator will monitor the overall expenditure levels for the University to ensure that Federal Work Study funding is maximized.

FEDERAL WORK STUDY/PRACTICUM CREDITS POLICY

By Federal regulation, students who are receiving practicum or internship credits for a job on campus may not be paid from Federal Work Study funds unless all students receiving the credits are also being paid. For this reason, students who are otherwise eligible for Federal Work Study will be paid from Institutional Work Study funding if they are receiving practicum or internship credits for their on campus job.

CLASS/WORK TIME OVERLAP

Per Federal policy, student employees cannot work during scheduled class time. The only exceptions are in cases where the class was cancelled or the class let out early. In cases of exceptions, an email needs to be sent to ose@spu.edu by the student employee, with the supervisor cc'ed, explaining the reason for the exception.

This email should be sent no more than 24 hours after the work shift in question. If a student's class has an alternative meeting schedule, those details should also be sent to ose@spu.edu.

BREAKS AND MEAL PERIODS

Student employees, who work more than 5 consecutive hours, must be allowed an off-the-clock meal period of at least 30 minutes beginning no less than 2 nor more than 5 hours from the beginning of the shift. Employees who work more than 3 hours of overtime* are required to have an additional 30 minute meal period, prior to or during the overtime period. Student employees should not be paid for meal periods when they are completely relieved from duty during the break.

Student employees must be allowed a rest period of 15 minutes paid time for each 4 hours of working time. Rest periods should be scheduled as close as possible to the midpoint of the work period.

*Students should not regularly be scheduled to work more than 20 hours/week during the academic year and 40 hours/week during breaks and summer. See section "maximum hours per week."

COMMUNITY CHAPEL ATTENDANCE/PAYMENT POLICY

If a student employee is normally scheduled to work at a time when a community chapel has been scheduled, the student should be encouraged to attend the chapel event with the department and may record the hour spent at chapel on the timesheet. This policy only applies to chapel events that are designated as community chapels by the Office of Campus Ministries.

INCLEMENT WEATHER CLOSURES

Student employees are not eligible for pay during campus closures (i.e. snow days, etc.), unless they are required to work. If students are required to work during a closure, they will be paid for the time worked at their normal rate of pay, unless otherwise arranged by the supervisor.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT EMPLOYEES

Students who are studying at SPU under the F-1 Visa program are eligible to work on-campus. Consequently, all on-campus positions should be advertised as open to F-1 Visa students when posted in SPULink. If an international student is hired, they must take their passport, visa, I-94 Form, and I-20 Form to both the Office of Student Employment and the Student Payroll office. Once the student has submitted a receipt showing that they have requested a Social Security Card, they are eligible to begin work (payment will be withheld until the actual card arrives and is shown to payroll). Students studying on F-1 Visas typically cannot work more than 20 hours per week without jeopardizing their visa status.

STUDENT PAYROLL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Payment for work done by student employees is based on the premise of "an hour's pay for an hour's work." Student employees are expected to be working each hour for which they are paid. Student employees are paid on the basis of submitting student employee timesheets to Student Payroll according to the published Payroll Schedule. The Payroll Schedule is available in Student Payroll, Student Financial Services or on the Student Payroll website.

Before a student employee can access his/her timesheet via Banweb and receive payment for time worked, the following forms must be completed: (1) Electronic Personnel Action Form (ePAF), (2) I-9, and (3) W-4.

CHANGES TO POSITIONS

There are several connections in Banner between a supervisor and their student employee (fund/orgn code, supervisor's position number, supervisor's email address, etc.). If any of these are changing, the department should contact the Office of Student Employment as soon as possible. If notification does not occur in a timely manner, student's pay may be delayed.

If a student employee's supervisor is changing, the Office of Student Employment should be notified as early as possible. If a supervisor's position is vacated during the student payroll period, the student will no longer be able to submit hours for that payroll period.

PROXY REQUIREMENT

Supervisors of student employees are required to set up a proxy. Proxies are able to approve student timesheets when the supervisor is otherwise unavailable (away from the office, on vacation, at a conference, etc.). Proxies are set up in the Banner Information System.

SICK TIME POLICY

Student employees at Seattle Pacific University accrue one hour of paid sick leave for every 30 hours worked. The sick leave can be used when student employees need to miss work for a variety of health-related reasons, including certain types of personal safety reasons, as described in this policy.

The accrual of sick leave begins on the first day of employment. However, a student employee may not begin to use accrued sick leave until his or her 90th day as an SPU employee. For a student employee who is continuously employed by SPU for at least 90 calendar days, this means that sick leave can be used beginning on the 90th day after a student employee begins employment. If a student employee ceases to be employed by SPU, is later rehired by SPU, and begins working for SPU more than 12 months after the date that the prior employment terminated, then the 90 day waiting period starts over on the new first day of employment. However, if a student employee is rehired and resumes work for SPU within 12 months of the date of termination of the prior employment, the preceding employment counts towards the 90 day waiting period.

Student employees only accrue sick leave for hours worked (e.g., not when they are taking sick leave). Accrual and usage of sick leave is tracked on a fiscal year basis (July 1st through June 30th). Student employees may carry over up to 72 hours of accrued but unused sick leave from one fiscal year to the next.

Student employees will be required to report their usage of sick leave. Sick leave may be used in 15 minute increments. Student employees will receive the same rate of pay for sick leave taken as they would have received if they had worked the assigned time instead of taking the sick leave. Student employees can access information about sick leave balances and usage in the Banner Information System on an ongoing basis (including each time that wages are paid). Student employees are not permitted to loan, donate, give, or transfer their accrued sick leave to any other SPU employee.

Student employees should try to give as much notice as possible to any supervisor when needing to utilize sick leave. If the need for sick leave is foreseeable, student employees should provide at least ten calendar days' advance notice. If the need for the sick leave is not foreseeable, the student employee should provide notice as soon as possible before the required start of their shift, unless it is not practicable to do so.

Student employees may use accrued sick leave for any of the following purposes:

- An absence resulting from an employee's mental or physical illness, injury, or health condition; to accommodate the employee's need for medical diagnosis, care, or treatment of a mental or physical illness, injury, or health condition; or an employee's need for preventive medical care;
- To allow the employee to provide care for a family member with a mental or physical illness, injury, or health condition; care of a family member who needs medical diagnosis, care, or treatment of a mental or physical illness, injury, or health condition; or care for a family member who needs preventive medical care;
- When the employee's place of business has been closed by order of a public official for any health-related reason, or when an employee's child's school or place of care has been closed for such a reason; or
- Absences that qualify for leave under Washington State's domestic violence leave act, RCW 49.76 (e.g., for seeking certain forms of treatment or assistance for sexual assault, domestic violence, or stalking).

For purposes of this policy, "family member" means any of the following:

- A child, including a biological, adopted, or foster child, stepchild, or a child to whom the employee stands in loco parentis, is a legal guardian, or is a de facto parent, regardless of age or dependency status;
- A biological, adoptive, de facto, or foster parent, stepparent, or legal guardian of an employee or the employee's spouse or registered domestic partner, or a person who stood in loco parentis when the employee was a minor child;
- A spouse;
- A registered domestic partner;
- A grandparent;
- A grandchild; or
- A sibling.

If a student employee uses paid sick leave on more than three consecutive days that the student employee is assigned to work (for some or all of such days), then the student employee may be required to provide verification that the leave was taken for an authorized purpose. In such a case, payment for the leave may be delayed until such verification has been provided by the student employee. Verification should be provided by the student employee to SPU within 10 calendar days of (i) request by SPU or (ii) the first use of sick leave to which the request for verification relates (whichever is later). For this purpose, "verification" means evidence that establishes or confirms that an employee's use of paid sick leave is for an authorized purpose. Requiring verification may not result in an unreasonable burden or expense on the employee. If an employee anticipates that the requirement will result in an unreasonable burden or expense, the employee may provide an oral or written explanation to SPU that asserts (i) that the employee's use of paid sick leave was for an authorized purpose under RCW 49.46.210, and (ii) how SPU's verification requirement creates an unreasonable burden or expense on the employee. Within ten calendar days of receipt of the explanation, SPU will respond to the student employee. If SPU determines that a student employee's use of paid sick leave was for an unauthorized purpose, SPU may withhold payment of paid sick leave for such hours (but not deduct those hours from accrued, unused paid sick leave hours). SPU may not require that documentation explain the nature of an illness, if applicable. SPU will treat documentation provided pursuant to a verification request as confidential. If obtaining documentation requested by SPU causes the student employee to incur out of pocket costs to the person or entity providing the documentation, the student employee can request that SPU pay for half the costs of obtaining such documentation.

Student employees will not receive any payment for any accrued but unused sick leave at the termination of employment. If a student employee ceases to be employed by SPU, is later rehired by SPU, and begins working for SPU more than 12 months after the date that the prior employment terminated, then no accrued but unused sick leave from the prior employment will be available upon rehire. However, if a student employee is rehired and resumes work for SPU within 12 months of the date of termination of the prior employment, any accrued but unused sick leave will carry over to the new period of employment (subject to the 72 hour carryover limit from one fiscal year to the next, if applicable).

Retaliation by SPU for a student employee's lawful use of paid sick leave and other rights provided under RCW 49.46, and all applicable rules, is prohibited.

For purposes of Seattle's paid sick and safe time ordinance, SPU is a Tier 3 employer and its sick/safe time "benefit year" is its fiscal year.

STUDENT TIMESHEETS

Student employees must record the hours worked each day on Student Timesheets, available online through the Banner Information System (once all paperwork is completed). Students should enter their starting time and their ending time for their shift in Banner. If they take an unpaid break during their shift (like for lunch), they should enter their first start time, their first end time, their second start time (the time they return from break), and then their second end time.

Timesheets are legal documents and as such should be kept as accurate as possible. If a student has previously unreported hours, they should be submitted separately and never added to the current timesheet.

The number of hours worked are calculated using the quarter-hour rounding method. This means that arrival and departure times are rounded to the closest quarter of the hour when reporting hours on a timesheet.

If an employee arrives or leaves between:

:00 to :07 minutes after the hour, enter as the top of the hour

:08 to :22 minutes after the hours, enter as a quarter after the hour

:23 to :37 minutes after the hour, enter as the half hour

:38 to :52 minutes after the hour, enter as three quarters past the hour

:53 to :60 minutes after the hour, enter as the top of the hour

Examples:

Arriving at 8:07 am would be entered as 8:00 am

Arriving at 8:08 am would be entered as 8:15 am

Arriving at 8:23 am would be entered as 8:30 am

Arriving at 8:38 am would be entered as 8:45 am

Arriving at 8:53 am would be entered as 9:00 am

Supervisors must carefully check timesheets for accuracy and submit student timesheets to Student Payroll every other Wednesday by 12pm. Refer to the published Student Payroll Schedule for exact dates. If the due date falls on a holiday, timesheets are typically due on the day following the holiday.

If a supervisor needs to make changes to the timesheet, a comment must be added to explain the reason for the comment. For example: removed 3 hours from 11/11/15 because it was a holiday and student didn't work.

PREVIOUSLY UNREPORTED HOURS

If a student employee forgets to submit some hours, those hours should be submitted via email and never added to the current timesheet. This email should be sent to the supervisor and must include the following:

1. Student's name & ID number.
2. Dates worked with Start Time and End Time as well as the total number of hours worked each day.
3. Total number of hours being reported.

The supervisor should then review this information and if correct, send it to Student Payroll along with the statement, "I approve these hours for payment." Adjustment emails received by the end of business on Wednesday of a payroll week will be included in that payroll process.

STUDENT PAY INCREASES

Supervisors must notify the Student Payroll Office of any increase to a student employee's pay rate. This may be done by submitting an On Campus Pay Raise Request Form to Student Payroll. When giving a pay increase, please refer to the published Payroll Schedule and start the increase on the first day of a pay period, so that one timesheet does not have two different pay rates.

STUDENT PAYROLL SCHEDULE

Students will receive their earnings via direct deposit twice per month. Refer to the Student Payroll Schedule to determine pay dates. If there are questions about student payroll, please contact The Student Payroll Office located on the 3rd floor of Weter Hall.

EARLY CHECK POLICY

Early checks may be requested by completing a Request for Early Check form available online. An early check will be processed only once per year per student employee. If the delay in submitting timesheets was due to a supervisor error, contact Student Payroll concerning the processing of rush checks for the student employees affected. Student Payroll requires 24 hours to process the early check request.

NOTIFICATION OF STUDENT'S LAST DAY OF WORK

Supervisors are responsible for notifying Student Payroll when a student employee has worked their last day for that department. The preferred notification is an e-mail indicating the last day worked. Notification of the student employee's last day worked helps Student Payroll to keep payroll information accurate and allows the payroll process to run smoothly. (NOTE: All students who have not been paid after 45 days will be automatically terminated.)

The Office of Student Employment should also be notified if the reason for the student's employment ending is something that should be documented for future reference either for employment verifications or if another supervisor on-campus wants to hire the student (in occasional cases a student may be terminated from a position for negligence, misconduct, failure to report to work, etc. which should be documented accordingly).

SUPERVISION OF STUDENT EMPLOYEES

EFFECTIVE INTERVIEW TECHNIQUES

The main purpose of the interview is to determine if the student applicant is capable of filling your employment needs. It also allows the student the opportunity to determine whether he/she feels qualified for and comfortable with the position.

Mastering job interview skills is a major step in a student's progress toward becoming an able and self-assured participant in the world of work. The process of applying for a position and discussing his/her qualifications and skills gives the student experience and confidence.

TIPS FOR INTERVIEWING

Prepare for the interview by reviewing materials you will use (for example the job description). The more familiar you are with the job description, the more useful the interview will be in selecting a student employee.

Try to create a friendly, comfortable atmosphere. Be aware of body language-both yours and the student's. Emphasize a relaxed, conversational attitude. Use eye contact and smile. Most job applicants are a bit nervous, especially if it is their first job interview. Devoting a few moments to putting the student at ease with "small talk" is often helpful.

Structure the interview to the functions and responsibilities of the job. Be sure you ask the questions necessary to verify that the student has the qualifications needed. Secure some basic information about the student's class schedule and work background.

Have a written copy of the job description available for the student to review. This will allow the student to organize his/her thoughts and be prepared to answer the questions posed in the interview and to formulate his/her questions.

After the basic information has been obtained, further questions are often necessary to determine skill level or degrees of talent. Encourage the student to talk by using open-ended questions such as:

- Why are you interested in working for this department?
- What skills and qualifications do you have that would relate to this position?
- After seeing the job description and hearing more information, what interests you about the position? What reservations do you have?
- What questions do you have about the job and its responsibilities?

Explain the useful and necessary role of the position within the department, emphasizing that the student will be considered an integral part of the staff. It is appropriate to give information about the department, standards expected, and the supervisory style. Be clear about expectations and ask the student for response, questions, or comments.

Be sure the student understands the next step in the selection process. Be sure to contact all student applicants in a timely manner regarding your hiring decision.

STUDENT EMPLOYEE ORIENTATION

A thorough and well-planned orientation allows the new student employee to become familiar with the activities of the work place and to more quickly feel like an integral part of the staff. The following recommendations are helpful:

Complete all necessary employment paperwork (Electronic Personnel Action Form (ePAF), I-9, W-4) and submit forms to Student Employment. (This is always REQUIRED.)

Review a copy of the job description. Explain the student's general work assignment and regular duties.

Explain the operation, purpose and goals of the department and specify the student's role in accomplishing the goals.

Introduce the student to other staff members, including other student employees.

Provide a tour of the physical surroundings of the office. Be sure to point out the nearest restroom and break room.

Establish the basic conditions of employment. For example, hourly wage, work schedule, and attendance requirements. (Who does the student contact in case of absence or tardiness?)

Explain office procedures and policies concerning breaks, use of the telephone or office equipment for personal business, access to office coffee and kitchen facilities, etc.

Provide guidance to the student regarding appropriate dress for the department.

Explain how to use the phone system including how to transfer calls, put a call on hold, proper telephone etiquette.

Explain how to use the department fax machine and copy machine. Show the student how mail is handled in the department.

Explain how to use any specific equipment in your department.

Discuss responsibility for finding a substitute if the student is not able to report to work on a particular day (if applicable to your department).

Arrange for the student to complete FERPA (Family Educational Right to Privacy Act) training. The student must request access to the online training session by emailing ferpa@spu.edu.

Once the student has begun working, it is important that the supervisor lay the groundwork for a successful working relationship by communicating clear expectations. The supervisor should provide adequate training for the student. Most new employees initially require one-on-one training. As the student gains skills and confidence in the job, the need for continued close supervision might be reduced.

It is also important for the supervisor to be generous in giving the student feedback, praising the student for what he/she does well, and redirecting the student when necessary.

TEN WAYS TO HELP STUDENT EMPLOYEES

1. BE AN EXAMPLE. Model strong work habits through efficient, dedicated work practices. Let your own approach to daily work be an example from which students can learn.
2. BE FLEXIBLE. Understand that student employees are students first and employees second. Though it is important to have high standards on the job, it is also important to be flexible in accommodating academic obligations.
3. COMMUNICATE EXPECTATIONS. Communicate the job standards and expectations to your student employees. One can't assume that these are self-evident to the student, even though they may seem obvious to you.
4. GIVE FEEDBACK FREQUENTLY. Provide consistent and appropriate feedback to your student employees. Student employees, like all employees, benefit from feedback on job performance, providing it is communicated with a positive spirit.
5. BE FAIR. Supervisors who are too lenient are not doing students any favors. Campus jobs are real jobs. Treat student employees as you would like to be treated in a given situation.

6. TRAIN! TRAIN! TRAIN! Take time to train your students in important work skills, attitudes and habits, such as perseverance, time management, phone skills, quality customer service practices, handling difficult situations. This is the "common sense" from which success is made.
8. GIVE RECOGNITION. When you see a student employee "going the extra mile" acknowledge this in front of other staff and peers. People need to feel appreciated.
9. SHARE THE VISION. Have regular staff meetings with your student employees and inform them how their work fits into a larger purpose of the department and the University. Remember, purposeful work is meaningful work.
10. BE AN EDUCATOR. To the degree that we each contribute to the lives of others, we are all educators. Consider how you can contribute to the education of your student employees.

MOTIVATING STUDENT EMPLOYEES

Recognize the student as an individual. A supervisor has a responsibility to see the student employee as a unique and valuable person.

Inform students of the relationship between their work, the role it plays in the department and the University, how it relates to their academic work. Share with them about the role it can play in their future work.

Help the students train for future work and career goals. Help them acquire skills that will make them more marketable later on. What is the student's major? Try to give them responsibility for projects that relate to their course of study. Give them clearly defined goals and the freedom to achieve them in their own way.

Offer constant informal feedback in addition to periodic performance evaluations. Student employees need to know that they are on the right track and are performing up to your standards. They also need to know the areas that need improvement.

Mix up the workload for student employees. Don't overload them with "grunt work" only. It's a strong temptation to assign all low-level work to student employees, but please don't. It's demoralizing for them. Find out what specialized skills and talents they have and help them further expand these skills. Recognize that student employees are an invaluable resource for innovative and creative ideas for change and improvement.

Be prepared to increase responsibilities to match the growing abilities of each student employee. Try to provide some job duties that will have "resume value."

Treat student employees as a vital part of the department. When they are hired, be sure to introduce them to the other staff members. Include them in office celebrations, recognize their birthdays, a job well done, etc.
